PROBE ASYLUM FIRE CLAIMING 17 LIVES

SUIT TO RECOVER LIQUOR FEES IS FILED IN COURT

Mayor Ferreri And Chief Of Police Warren Made
Defendants.

ATTORNEY GENERAL
ONE OF PLAINTIFFS

Suits To Collect $2425 Are Based On Reports Of State Examiner.

Lisbon, Dec. 27.—Civil actions were filed in common pleas court Wednesday afternoon to collect $1,296.64
from Mayor A. W. Ferreri of East Palestine and $1,128.60 from Chief of Police Walter Warren, also of East Palestine.

Both petitions were signed by Att'y. Gen. C. C. Crabbe, Arthur H.
Wicks, special counsel and City Solicitor L. M. Kyes of East Palestine.

In substance, both petitions read alike, and copies of certain pages of the report of the state examiner, who recently made an audit of the dockets
of the East Palestine court, were made a part of the petitions.

To the petition filed against Mayor
Ferreri, a copy of the ordinance
granting the mayor of the city of East Palestine an annual salary of $500 was attached.

This is said to be the first time
that a petition has ever been filed in the courts of Columbiana to which has been affixed the signature of the attorney general of the state.

The petition states that on October 5, 1923, there was filed with the city solicitor of East Palestine a report of the department of audits of the state of Ohio, and that pages 28 to 31,
inclusive, are made a part of the petition in the case against Mr. Ferreri.
The petition recites that a finding for recovery of public money was made and that "said amount has not been paid, as required by law, and is now due and owing said plaintiff."

Would Recover Fees Paid
The plaintiff prays judgment
against the defendant in the amount
so found due by said report of said
bureau of inspection and supervision
of public offices in the sum of $1,296-64, with interest.

A part of the petition for the recovery also reads: "For fees paid to police officers in violation of the law
as previously quoted findings for recovery are made in favor of the city of East Palestine and against the various officers in the amounts
shown:

"Due city of East Palestine, general fund, from A. W. Ferreri, $1,296-64."

In the petition filed against Chief of Police Warren of East Palestine
the case is titled: "City of East Palestine, ex rel. L. M. Kyes, city solicitor, against W. Warren, chief of police, defendant."

In this case the city of East Palestine seeks the recovery from Mr.
Warren of $1,128.60, with interest.

This petition, like that filed in the action against Mr. Ferreri, is signed by Att'y. Gen. Crabbe, Special Counsel Arthur B. Wicks and City Solicitor L. M. Kyes.

In the report of the state examiner attached as a part of the petition, is a list of fees in state cases retained
by the mayor and paid to officers,
all of which were expended without warrant of law, and should be returned to the city of East Palestine."

Christmas Mail Is Heavier Than Ever

Many Autoists Here Delay Purchase Of New License Plates

With but four days remaining in the year there are still many hundred Salem motorists who have failed to provide themselves with new blue and white 1924 auto tags, an official of the Salem Motor club stated Thursday.

Only 200 odd licenses have been issued, an unusually small number.
The law gives a few days grace but
all who can are sup- ed to chase their new licenses as soon as possible.

An expected rush is looked for before New Year's as about 2,000 licenses are to be given out.

FOUNDER OF KLAN ASKS COOLIDGE TO HALT TERRORISM

Stamp It Out Or Force The Klan To Disband, Plea
Of Ed Clarke.

CHARGES VIOLENCE
AND INTIMIDATION

Present Klan Administration
Violates Laws He Says;
Wars On Evans.

Washington, Dec. 27.—The Ku Klux Klan as a national issue was brought dramatically into the open today and laid on the doorstep of the White House.

In a letter to President Coolidge
Edward Young Clarke, imperial grand and former head of the Klan in the United States, declared the organization which he was instrumental in founding had degenerated into a cheap political machine, that is
"brazenly superseding the authority of American courts," and he concluded his letter with an appeal to the president to take the lead in a national effort to stamp out "hooded terrorism" or else force the Klan to disband.

Clarke's letter created a sensation
in the capital. Not only did the founder of the Klan confirm, in his letter, some of the gravest charges
that have been made against the organization by its enemies, but he also served notice of a war to a finish
upon Hiram W. Evans, present imperial wizard. The force of the Klan as a national organization is said to hang in the balance.

Says Klan Violates Law
Besides the letter, Clarke submitted to the president a mass of documentary evidence to support his charges that the present administration of the Klan has violated laws,
that it has "deprived citizens of their constitutional rights," and that it
"has encouraged physical violence
and intimidation of citizens."

The promise of still further documents of a highly sensational character, bearing on the history of the Klan in Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana, was said to have been given the president as well.

The letter was delivered to President Coolidge this morning by Edward Fuller, secretary to Clarke, who said the ex-imperial wizard himself is said to be enroute to Washington to personally lay before the president, if permitted, documents relating to a score of sensational Klan secrets and cases.

While Fuller was at the White House, Evans and a little band of his lieutenants were holding a meeting
in a hotel not far from the White House, considering ways and means of countering Clarke's bold step.

Evans is said to have gotten wind of the move and slipped quietly into Washington to be on hand for today's developments.

Clarke, in his letter, savagely assailed the existing Klan, its present
policies and the acts of its officials.

DARLINGTON FIRE LOSS IS $250,000

A fire shortly after last midnight
in the Clay Products company brick sheds, but the cause of its origin was not learned. The loss was in motors and machinery.

This is the second big fire of the company in recent years. Officials could not state at this time whether
the plant would be rebuilt.

tertainment to be given on New Year's Sunday school. There will be a program given by the children and a treat will be distributed.

One army worker stated Thursday
that there is need of toys to be given
the children at this time and trimming for the tree is desired.

Calls Klan Influence Harmful To Republic

Akron Minister Tells Rotarians Klan Is Revival Of The Crusade Spirit; Can't Permit Our Social Groups To Be Split Up, He Says; Changes Forecast.

Tracing by a chart the cycles of human history, Rev. L. C. Douglas, Congregational minister of Akron and member of the Akron Rotary club, told Salem Rotarians Wednesday afternoon at their meeting in the Elks home that new influences are shaping themselves and that we are having a part in forming the nucleus of new forces which will go down in history as one of the ever changing cycles of the social order.

Rev. Douglas went back to the age of imperialism in 2,000 B. C. and traced the changes every 500 years
down through the Dark Ages, the period of pleasure and indulgence
which he termed the Babylonian

jazz age, followed by the age of intelligence which brought the birth of Christ, then the imperialistic age
of the Roman empire and followed again by the dark age and the crusade.

"The Ku Klux Klan is a revival of the crusading spirit," he said. "We must have a change in the social order, a sort of spiritual cathartic, every so often. The purpose was once served by revival meetings,
around driving wedges between our
groups must be dealt with seriously."

"And now comes the Ku Klux Klan, an interesting social psychological phenomena which the Klan members themselves do not understand.
We can't permit our social groups to be chopped up into bits by such influences."

"Live by faith. Don't let that break through. When it does you see the beginning of the end of our republic. That's why I'm afraid of the Klan. Any influence which goes around driving wedges between our
groups must be dealt with seriously."

Rev. Douglas declared the world isn't coming to an end, as some prophecy. If it comes to an end, he said, we would have accomplished
our purpose, and we have not, or we would be too bad to live, and that is not true. The world will keep on keeping on, he declared in closing.

Next week the meeting will be held on Wednesday, with George Bunn in charge of the program, L.
P. Drennen, public speaking instructor in Salem High school, will speak.

The meetings the following two weeks will be in charge of Charles Burton and R. W. Campbell.

VARIED PROGRAM BY COLLEGE CLUB

Ohio Wesleyan Glee Club
To Give Concert Here
Friday Night.

A varied selection of vocal numbers, orchestra music and readings
will be given by the Ohio Wesleyan
Glee club in the Methodist church
Friday evening.

In Mrs. Edith Burford-Kelly, a reader, the glee club has an entertainer who has never failed to add considerable enjoyment to the program. Mrs. Burford-Kelly does not make any selection of readings before hand but decides after meeting her audience what type of entertainment she thinks would best please
that audience.

For the past five years the Glee club, representing Ohio Wesleyan,
has been recognized as one of the best in the United States. During the summer five years ago, the Ohio Wesleyan organization was picked as the best in the country among college groups and was sent by the government to entertain the workers in the Panama Canal zone.

This year a five-piece orchestra
has been added to the personnel and will be taken on all the trips. Members of the orchestra are among the finest musicians in the university
and will add quite a bit of variety to the evening's program.

PROHIBITION AIDE, WEARING A BADGE, IS UNDER ARREST

Charged With Impersonating An Officer, Harry Is Held To Court.

PRISONER CLAIMS
HE WAS DRUGGED

Trouble Starts In Salem
house; Arrest Made
By Policeman.

Charged with impersonating an officer, J. A. Harry, said to be an assistant to state prohibition officers, was arrested by Officer W. L. Kirkbridge at 10 p. m. Wednesday at Depot and Pershing ave.

On Harry's coat was found pinned
a constable's badge. The badge read
"Constable of Perry township."

Harry was arrested after a man
had come to the city hall and lodged a complaint there, saying that a man, representing himself to be a state prohibition officer, had threatened him in the Salem house.

Officer Kirkbridge investigated but could find no one at the Salem house answering the description. The man in charge of the place, said to have been John Rogers, stated that the wanted man had gone out of the place after an unsuccessful attempt to buy a drink. Rogers claimed that the man asked for a drink but was told that as there was none in the place none could be sold.

Kirkbridge then searched the neighborhood and finally located his man
on the property of the Bryan Granite works. The officer arrested the man and took him to the city jail.

Claims He Was Drugged
Thursday morning Harry told a friend that he had procured a drink
at the Salem house and that it had contained a powerful drug. The next thing he knew, he stated, was when he woke up in the jail. He claims that he had been framed and that the officer knew where to get him.

At a hearing before Mayor John W. Post Thursday morning Harry was confronted with the constable's badge but pleaded not guilty. Post bound him over to the grand jury
under $500 bond which was not furnished and Chief Thompson was to take Harry to Lisbon Thursday afternoon.

A man who was a witness to the affair at the Salem house and later saw the arrest said that Harry was drunk, that he threatened a man in the place and even put his hand back
on his hip as though he was going to draw a weapon.

Prohibition agents say Harry had been working for Mayor Wilson's campaign at Struthers and only a few days ago came to Salem to assist in the work here. Harry was used to buy liquor which the officers then used as evidence in making arrests.

CHASE BURGLARS IN COLUMBIANA

Neighbors See Intruders At Work While Family
Is Absent.

Neighbors discovered a robbery being perpetrated at the home of E. L.
Mallory, Fairfield ave., Columbiana,
about 8 a. m. Thursday.

The Mallory family is visiting in Akron, and Mrs. S. H. Harrold, who lives across the street, noticed the robbers in the house, who were using flashlights, and sent an alarm into the telephone operator to notify the police. This the operator was unable to do as the policeman did not have a telephone.

The thieves were frightened away
by some of the neighbor men, it is reported, who saw them drive away in their car in the direction of East Palestine, and pursued them for a distance. The extent of the robbery
probably will not be learned until the Mallorys return.

London, Dec. 27.—Great Britain according to foreign office officials today regards Germany's proposals regarding the future status of general

Information was given that England was not directly interested in the negotiations between Berlin and Paris and will not intervene.

30 DANGEROUS PATIENTS ARE FREED BY FIRE

Twelve Unidentified Bodies Recovered From Ruins; 600 Insane Patients Becom-
Violent As Fire Breaks Out.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Five city, state
and federal agencies today launched
a joint inquiry into the disastrous fire at the Chicago State hospital for the insane at Dunning, which last night took a toll of at least 17
lives and loosed 30 or more dangerously insane patients as a menace to the city.

Fire hazard in the over-crowded
structure known as "The Death House" has been recognized as an ever present danger for the last 11
years and the asylum had been saved from destruction by flames largely by luck in eight blazes since 1910.

Judge C. H. Jenkins, state director of public welfare, arrived in Chicago today to take charge of the investigation for the state. He will be assisted by the state fire marshal's office, the Chicago fire department, County Judge Jarecki and representatives of the U. S. Veterans' bureau, working on behalf of ex-service men housed in the tinder structure.

Burned Beyond Recognition Bodies charred beyond recognition
made the work of identification slow
and but few had been listed among the known dead early today. They were:

Elijah Carraker, an attendant.
Mrs. Carraker, his wife.
Lowell Carraker, 11, their son.

Michael Ledwith, 45, a patient.
John Bennett, 38, a patient.

Twelve unidentified bodies, recovered from the ruins were those of patients who were unable to escape
when panic broke loose among the dope addicts, epileptics and victims of dementia praecox who were in the dimly building when the flames
were discovered.

Many of the 600 patients suffering from milder forms of insanity under ordinary circumstances became violent in the horror of the night and broke away from attendants and guards in efforts to make their way back into the burning building, or to escape from the asylum grounds.

Thirty of the cases "classified as "dangerous" were believed to be among the escaped, as dawn broke over the grisly work of sifting the ruins to additional bodies.

Fights His Captors
Charles A. Carpenter, who broke away as the patients were being marched for shelter to the building where two Christmas trees were waiting for a celebration for patients
when disaster intervened, was captured after a fight with police in metropolitan Chicago.

Carpenter fought for half an hour
attempting to slash officers with a knife before he was subdued by Sergeant William Cusak and a squad
of detectives.

The flames were discovered white
most of the patients were still at supper.

Herman Haecker, an epileptic and normal except when seized with an attack, had finished his meal and gone to his room, where he knelt at his cot, saying his prayers. The crackling of flames aroused him
from his reverie and he looked to avoid some smoke curling from a closet where oil and mops were stored. The blaze quickly spread, enveloping the tinder building.

Screams of Terror
He ran shouting down the corridor
to the entrance of the dining room
and notified Mrs. Hanna Saunders, an attendant. The cry of fire un-loosed the raged forces of the infants in a sudden panic. There had been a false alarm, he might have said. Mrs. Saunders ran to fire headquarters and the asylum's siren
shrieked a warning over the grounds.

As she returned to the building,
the lights went out, leaving the 600 panic-stricken occupants in darkness. Their screams of terror were followed by a rush to the exits, where they crowded and trampled in their efforts
to escape.

But 18 attendants were available
to lead the patients to safety and march them to the administration building where temporary accommodations were arranged.

HOLIDAY TRAGEDY ACCIDENTAL SAYS COUNTY CORONER

Roy Peters, East Palestine
Rubber Worker, Shot To Death In Home.

County Coroner Dr. J. M. Van Fos-
san of East Palestine, Wednesday afternoon, rendered a verdict of "accidental death" in connection with the shooting of Roy Peters, 26-year-
old East Palestine rubber worker,
who died in his home about 10 p. m.
Tuesday after he had sent a bullet
crashing through his brain.

Peters had entertained relatives in his home Christmas day and appeared to be in the best of spirits. About 5:30 p. m. Tuesday he stepped into a bedroom in the first floor of his house, presumably to clean a revolver, which members of the family
claim he kept hanging upon the wall.

According to Coroner Van Fossan
the weapon was evidently discharged
as Peters attempted to take it from the nail on the wall. The bullet entered his right temple and lodged behind his left eye. Other members of the family hearing the report rushed to his room to investigate the cause of the shooting and found Peters lying upon the floor with his head in a pool of blood. Beside him on the floor lay the gun.

A physician was summoned but efforts to save the young man's life were fruitless. He died within 15 minutes after the shooting.

Coroner Van Fossan made a close investigation of the case and, after questioning members of the family
and others, decided that the shooting
had been accidental, there being no evidence of suicide. Witnesses testified that the young man had mentioned his intentions of cleaning the gun several times.

He leaves his wife and two children. Funeral service will be conducted at the residence Friday afternoon.

The Falling Death Rate

AMERICA'S death rate for 1922, according to the estimates of the census bureau, was 11.8 to the thousand. England's during the recorded months of 1923 was 11.7 to the thousand, making this the most healthful year in the country's history. This decline has occurred in spite of widespread unemployment and depression, together with a lowering of the living standards of many classes of British workers. It is attributed, as in other countries, largely to "the reduction of mortality early in life." Astounding progress has been made in saving the lives of children but much less in curing the diseases of mature life and old age.

This is strikingly shown in the tables which show the expectation of life at various ages. Dr. William B. Mayo has declared that the boy of today can count on at least twelve years more of life than could his grandfather. But this does not mean that the average age at death is twelve years higher than it used to be. It means, as both the census bureau and the standard life insurance statistics show, that children and young persons stand a better chance of surviving into middle age.

An outstanding feature of the mortality statistics is that they do not show an important increase in the expectation of life after middle age is reached. That is to say, the man or woman who reached 40 or 50 in the middle of the last century had almost as good a chance to reach 70 or 80 as have the middle aged persons of today. More individuals survive into middle age than was formerly the case, but not many more survive into old age.

In this fact, perhaps, is one explanation of the failure of science to check the degenerative diseases of middle life. Formerly the weakest were weeded out in infancy, childhood or early maturity; now they live to fall a prey to the diseases of maturity. But there is reason to hope that these diseases will in time be conquered. Tuberculosis is already being steadily diminished, more scientific treatment of diseases of the heart and arteries is yielding encouraging results, and since the discovery of insulin diabetes should show a decline as a cause of death.

Children In Court

ACCORDING to statistics announced by the National Probation association during the year 1923, 200,000 children under 18 years of age have passed through the courts of the United States. Of those who came into juvenile courts, 75 per cent have "made good," the phrase meaning that the boys and girls as the case may be, in this percentage have been turned back to society fit to take their place again in human affairs. Officials of the National Probation association point to this record to show that their contention in favor of probationary reform is well founded. Reformatory systems hardly ever achieve the purpose designed. Put a youth on a merit system and you give him something to live up to; an estate to which he may aspire. Put him in reformatory institutions and you nurture grievances and harden whatever of criminal instincts he may possess. Delinquent children, as your juvenile court judge will testify, can be won over to useful and wholesome lives more easily by kindness than by fear. It is the fear of the law, not the recognition of its justice, that inspires young people, criminally inclined, to grow to hate the law.

New Telephone Rates

TELEPHONE subscribers who use the toll lines will not take kindly to the increased rates announced in the new toll tariff which has been filed by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. with the state public utilities commission of Ohio. Telephone rates were increased when the Ohio Bell company acquired the independent lines in Ohio and merged them into one system. That increase, it was felt generally, was justified but if the merger means a continual demand for higher rates there will be a storm of public protest. Present rates surely are high.

enough to bring a reasonable return for the company's investment.

(Issue of Dec. 27, 1903.)

Fred Goddard of this city, returned Saturday from Butler, Pa., where he has been helping to nurse typhoid fever victims. Mr. Goddard was taken ill and decided to return home. Charles J. Eifer, superintendent of the Salem Electric Railway's Ammery lines, was surprised Christmas morning by being presented an office chair from motormen and conductors on the lines.

After all there was no turkey famine over Christmas. There is pretty good sleighing on the country roads and they are in splendid condition.

The tenth annual masquerade ball of the Delage Hose company will be held on New Year's eve, Dec. 31, at Cook's hall.

C. M. Bixler, connected with the Cherry Valley iron works in Leetonia for years, will move to Warren early next month.

J. A. Holloway of Flushing, who attended the Binns-Braken wedding Friday at Winona, was a guest of A. H. Stratton over Sunday.

Miss Mary Gaunt, who has been ill of typhoid fever, will resume her duties as teacher in the public schools when they re-open after the holiday season.

Beginning this evening the hard ware stores of the city will close at 5:30 each evening except Saturday.

David Long, for 36 years, a conductor on the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh and known in Salem, died as a result of blood poisoning from vaccination.

George Hise, Bruce Carey and Armstrong McCarty attended a party given by Miss Ruth Hartzell Thursday evening at her home near Sebring.

SURGERY FOR THE ANIMALS

Operating Table for Horses Has Been Opened in University of Pennsylvania.

Horses, cows and mules can now be given surgical treatment for tumors, wounds, laryngitis, ruptures, broken bones, severed tendons, distortions and many internal diseases that formerly made it necessary to shoot them.

Such operations are being performed every weekday in the year, not only for the purpose of getting information concerning rare diseases that may be of value later in treating human beings, but to save and prolong the lives of the animals and to increase their usefulness, says the Scientific American. And the same facts apply to dogs, cats and other pets, including rabbits, goats, canary birds, parrots, monkeys and even the pungent skunk. They apply also to barnyard fowl—chickens, geese, ducks and turkeys.

What might be called the other side of the antivivisection story was brought to public attention quite recently in Philadelphia by the announcement that there had been set up in the University of Philadelphia veterinary hospital the first operating table ever built for the accommodation of horses and other large animals. The machine was designed by Dr. John W. Adams, professor of veterinary surgery and obstetrics at the university and chief operating surgeon at the hospital, which is run in conjunction with the school. It was evolved after several years of experience and after all existing apparatus had been found unsuitable to the peculiar needs of the veterinary surgeon.

In the largest lighthouse organization in the world the United States government maintains 16,373 aids to navigation and uses 117 vessels, including lightships.

DICKEY, FORMER RECORDER, DIES

Attack Of Heart Trouble Ends Life Of Former County Official.

East Liverpool, Dec. 27. — Harry Dickey, 41, former county recorder, and son of Frank Dickey of this city, died at the Bellevue hospital at noon yesterday, following a two weeks' illness of heart failure.

Mr. Dickey was recently taken ill in New Castle. He was removed to his home in Bellevue and then to a hospital.

The deceased was born and reared in East Liverpool, having resided with his parents on St. Clair ave. next to the Central fire station. He graduated from the local high school and then went to work in the First National bank of this city. Later he accepted a position with a bank at Pineville, near Pittsburgh, but two or three years later came back to East Liverpool, where he went to work in the First National bank of Chester as assistant cashier for more than seven years. He also was identified with his father in the transfer business here for several years.

When the elder Mr. Dickey was elected to the board of county commissioners, Harry was chosen, commission clerk, which office he held for four years. Later he was elected county recorder and held that office for two terms. Upon leaving the recorder's office, when he was succeeded by John K. Itark, Dickey accepted a position with the Federal bank as an inspector.

Seventeen years ago Dickey married Miss Helen Bailey, a Wellsville girl, who, with his father, survives him. He was a member of the Masonic lodge in Wellsville, and also was affiliated with the First Presbyterian church of Wellsville.

Few Faced the Firing Squad.

Out of the many millions of men which comprised the British army during the late war only 346 officers and men so failed in their duty as to justify their execution by the firing squad.

Three British officers were shot—two for desertion and one for murder. One man was sentenced to death three times, each for desertion. Twice he was reprieved, but he could not stand the welter of blood and mud of the trenches so he deserted again and the third time he was shot.

Forty other men, after being sentenced to death, were reprieved only to offend again and be shot. In 243 cases the offense against the military code was desertion, though 37 men were executed for murder. Eighteen were shot for cowardice, three for mutiny and two for sleeping on duty. In all, 3,089 death sentences were passed.

AUTO LICENSES TO BRING $9,000,000

Columbus, Dec. 27. — Licenses granted during the year to owners of automobiles and trucks in Ohio will bring a revenue of more than $9,000,000, it is estimated by A. G. Peight of the state automobile department during the last week of the year.

When bus licenses are added, the total will exceed $10,000,000, it is stated. Half the fees from 925,000 automobiles and 145,000 trucks is paid into the state treasury and half goes to the taxing districts where paid. The state also gets half the money from bus licenses.

Care of Dog, After Distemper.

A dog, after having had a severe case of distemper, should not be worked to any extent for at least two months after he has recovered. The hot nose and the signs of weak knees is a clear indication of this. Feed him good, wholesome food several times a day, the diet to consist of at least two-thirds meat, the other third stale bread, dog cakes and cooked vegetables. Occasionally feed raw meat and give him large green bones to gnaw upon. If he does not recover his normal weight and strength rapidly, give him a tablespoonful of cod liver oil in his food, or just before it, night and morning. Give him time and good care and the dog will regain his former good condition.—Sportman's Digest.

CUSTOM MAKES IT NATIONAL ANTHEM

STAR SPANGLED BANNER NEVER HAS BEEN GIVEN LEGAL STATUS BY CONGRESS.

TUNES OF FOREIGN ORIGIN

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—Congress never has declared "The Star Spangled Banner" to be the American national anthem. Nevertheless, "The Star Spangled Banner" is the American national anthem, for custom stronger than law has so made it.

There have been attempts in congress from time to time to give legal status to "The Star Spangled Banner" as the song of the United States, but always there has been objection. One of the reasons for objecting, if it be a reason, is that the tune to which the words are sung is that of an old drinking song. Another reason which has been voiced in a good many places is that in one of the stanzas of the anthem something is voiced in which certain persons have found hatred of another country. It is proper to say, however, that this latter reason seemingly never has had much weight with the law makers.

The United States has a good many songs, the tunes of which, like the words, are of native origin, but it is happens that many songs which are extremely popular have tunes of foreign origin. Of course the most salient case is that of "America" which is sung to the tune of "God Save the King."

Yale Revives Its Favorite.

Robert T. Small, newspaper correspondent, in a short article recently spoke of the revival by Yale students of the singing of their favorite song "Bright College Years." Not since April, 1917, have the Yale boys sung this favorite of theirs. The reason is that the tune is that of the German national anthem "Die Wacht am Rhine."

Two years ago when Marshal Foch was in this country he attended a Yale-Princeton football game. The Yale students had concluded that because three years had elapsed since the war ended it would be all right to sing "Bright College Years" again, even if the tune was "Die Wacht am Rhine." One of the students asked Marshal Foch if he would object. He said "no," but apparently he did not say it very heartily. The students postponed the singing for another year, and then again for another year, because in 1922 "The Tiger," Clemenceau, was present at the football game.

When American troops landed in France one of the first tunes which the bands played was "Maryland, My Maryland." As soon as the French heard the tune they looked somewhat aghast. It seems that the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland" is a well known German air. When matters were explained to the French, however, they understood, and "Maryland, My Maryland" was played throughout France all during the time of the presence of the American Expeditionary Forces, and no objection was entered.

American army officers who are graduates of West Point when they meet in reunions almost invariably sing the old academy song "Benny Havens Oh!" The tune of Benny Havens also is foreign, for it is sung and has been sung for ninety years to the tune of "The Wearing of the Green."

Reason for Benny Havens' Tune.

Several reasons have been given for the selection of this tune to fit the words of Benny Havens Oh. The most acceptable reason is that the words fitted the tune, or the tune fitted the words, if that is the better way to put it, but there is another reason which is sometimes advanced as the proper one. The cadet who wrote the original Benny Havens Oh, which was a short song, was named O'Brien, a name which suggests possibly the reason for a predilection for the tune of "The Wearing of the Green." O'Brien later was killed in the Seminole war in Florida and a stanza lamenting his death was added to "Benny Havens Oh!"

"Hark from the vales of Florida From Tampa's lonely shore There comes a voice of mourning, O'Brien is no more."

Some one has said that if a deliver would dig into the music rooms of the great libraries of the world he would find that the tune for every modern song either had been stolen directly, or had been adapted from something which had gone before. It is said by some musicians however, that this is wholly untrue so far as it refers even by indirection to some of the American airs, notably the so-called negro melodies.

Some of the states of the Union have songs of their own with tunes that are "native born," but in more than a few cases tunes have been lifted bodily to fit words in praise of the states which have taken them. One notable case is that of the song "Illinois," the tune of which is "Baby Mine."

Two Beds Are Better.

"I want a room with twin beds," insisted the midwinter traveler.

"Certainly," replied the clerk, "but what an odd request from a man traveling alone!"

"Perhaps," returned the traveler, "but when I spent a night here last winter I had only half enough cover for one."—Life.

Poisoned Tongue Gas More Deadly Than Battlefield Fumes, Opinion Of Minister

Columbus, Dec. 27.—Asserting that "more people have been slain by the poisonous gas breathed from poisoned tongues than from gas released at war fronts," Rev. C. Jeffers McCombe, pastor of Broad Street Methodist Episcopal church here, sermonized before a local congregation on "The Sins of the Tongue."

Rev. Dr. McCombe declared that "the slanderous scandal-monger makes enemies out of friends, drives husbands and wives to the divorce court, partnership to dissolution, business into bankruptcy and poisons the well of friendship."

"I am afraid of the black tongue, for I do not possess much except my character and my reputation," continued Rev. McCombe. "He who robs me of my good name robs me of that which does not enrich him and leaves me poor indeed."

"The scientific slanderer, with drooped lip, arched eyebrow, shrugged shoulder, significant look and adder's poison under his lips can release a poisonous virus which no legal analysis can produce in court as basis for a libel, yet will do its deadly work in undermining stable characters."

"The slanderer whose specialty is the sin of the tongue should be subjected to the cleansing power of the life and death of Jesus Christ. If he fails to respond to this treatment he should be consigned to an isolation camp, where he may companion with the stinging serpents and poison himself with his own sting."

Trade May Send Ring, Henline To Giants

New York, Dec. 2.—Another New York-Philadelphia transaction, whereby the Giants will acquire title to Jimmy Ring, one of the best right-handers in baseball, and "Butch" Henline, probably the best of the young catchers, is said to be in the process of cooking. According to all accounts, McGraw is preparing to do some very handsome player-juggling for the boon of this pair's permanent society.

The names of John Watson and John Scott pitchers, Jack Bentley pitcher, first baseman and pinch hitter, and Frank Snyder, veteran catcher, have been mentioned, offhand, as possible pawns in the deal.

For once, William Baker is alleged to have spurned the villain's gold in figuring upon the details of the trade and is demanding pitchers who can pitch and hitters who can hit.

In this case he can show some constructive results in the event that men like Bentley, Watson and Snyder are included in the deal. Bentley cost McGraw some $65,000 only a year ago and is really a great ball player. He was something of a flop as a left-hand pitcher but topped the National league in pinch hitting, compiling the plausible average of .427 in 52 games. He would go very big in Philadelphia with that trick fence in right field as a target.

Snyder fell off in his work last season but still has plenty of good base ball between his cap and his instep. Watson is a good pitcher. So is Scott when the spirit moves him. The latter has outlasted his welcome here, however, and it is understood that McGraw is ready to dispose of him.

The benevolent character of such a trade, from a New York standpoint, is obvious. Ring would be a big winner with a team like the Giants be hind him, and although it is pretty generally known that Ring and Art Fletcher are in perfect accord, it is taken for granted that the pitcher would welcome a change of scene. Henline is frankly dissatisfied in Philadelphia.

In fact, he made no secret of his

PALESTINE FLOOR FIVES START WITH ONLY ONE REGULAR

East Palestine High this year will have a hard proposition to solve. There is but one regular back on the Girls basketball team, and no varsity men to pick from among the boys.

Ray E. Whinnery, former star Salem High athlete and a graduate of Ohio State is coaching the girls. He has Cora Flowers, captain, as the only regular around which to build a team.

Among the promising candidates are Gladys Hildman, Lorraine Chaplin, Louise Murray, Genevieve Spaulman, Harriet Williams, and Alberta Wilson.

The Boys team is coached by Raymond E. Knesal, principal and head coach. The former Columbiana mentor expects a favorable season for his boys, despite the fact that he has only subs and green men to work with.

Knesal has had unusual success on both the gridiron and floor. At Columbiana in two years his boys won 46 of 49 games not a bad record.

Waldo Ward, star trackster and Lakeland mainstay, is captain of the squad. Ward and Sutherland are the subs of last year's team.

Procuring new material for this is made up of Stewart Crandorf, captain-elect of the 1924 Cambridge High five, who recently moved to East Palestine; Smith, one of the county's best football players; Hammond, another grid star; Marless, Orr, Kirtley, Reagle, Ball, Flynn and several freshmen.

Following is the schedule of the two teams:

- Jan. 1—Alumni.
- Jan. 11—Rogers.
- Jan. 12—Struthers.
- Jan. 17—Lisbon.
- Jan. 19—At Struthers.
- Jan. 25—Hubbard.
- Jan. 19—Struthers.
- Feb. 1—At Columbiana.
- Feb. 2—At Sebring.
- Feb. 9—At East Liverpool.
- Feb. 15—Columbiana.
- Feb. 16—At Lisbon.
- Feb. 22—At Salem.
- Mar. 1—Sebring.

The boys have won and lost one each, winning from Beloit and losing to Cannonsburg. The girls have lost to both Beloit and Cannonsburg.

To Develop Southern Mountains. A wealthy philanthropist has given a million dollars to the University of Kentucky to be spent in studying how to make the southern mountains produce a good living for the people who inhabit them. The problem is to discover the crops and the methods best suited to the hill lands. Through experiments that will begin at once the men in charge will test in the hill regions the commercial possibilities of raising various kinds of live stock and the suitability of different grasses and crops. With proper methods and more knowledge the isolated mountaineer may be able to make a better living than he has made hitherto.—Youth's Column.

BRINGING UP FATHER

JOHNSON'S OHIO BOOM IS FADING

Columbus, Dec. 27.—There will be no Columbus headquarters for the purpose of boosting the candidacy of Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, for president, according to announcement made here last night by friends of the candidates.

It is understood that his interests so far as the Buckeye state is concerned will be handled exclusively from headquarters at Cleveland. There is no certainty that there will even be a spirited campaign between the Johnson and Coolidge forces in this part of the state.

So far as has been apparent, there is little or no organized Johnson sentiment here, the Coolidge forces having taken hold of the situation early and have had things virtually their own way.

THE NEWS RADIO QUESTION BOX

Answers furnished by John Meyer, radio builder, of Woodland ave.

Q—I live in the country and we do not have water or gas pipes to use for a ground for my set. I have driven a rod about three feet in the ground. Will this do as well? E. S. A.

A—Driven rods are generally not desirable because of the small amount of surface in actual contact with the earth. The amount of surface in direct contact with moist earth is of the utmost importance. A copper plate four feet square is an excellent contact ground if buried sufficiently deep.

Q—Why is it I cannot pick up Canadian broadcasting stations? R. H. A.

A—The direction of your receiving antenna or some grounding properties adjacent to your antenna is the probable cause. However, if your set is of sufficient range, and has ample tuning capacity you should have no trouble in picking up Canadian stations as other local listeners are receiving broadcasting from Canada.

Q—Can radio frequency be added to a standard three circuit receiver without changing the wiring? J. L. P.

A—This can be done by placing the radio frequency in front of the tuner, and using a separate tuning coil.

Q—Why do signals come in loudly and then fade away? Do you think there is something wrong with my set? A. J. K.

A—This is commonly known as fading or swinging signals. Most long distance stations swing in this fashion. No satisfactory theory has yet been given to account for this, and it cannot be prevented. This occurs most prominently in the spring and fall of the year.

Q—Who is K M K B? I heard them after midnight Saturday, M. G. A.

A—No such station listed. You were probably listening to K F K B, Milford, Kas., on 286 meters.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT, IS FIERY, ITCHY OR ROUGH, USE SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Men-tho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Men-tho-Sulphur at any drug store.

COOLIDGE WILL SEEK DELEGATES

HIS FRIENDS ARE EXPECTED TO START THE NOMINATION CAMPAIGN AT ONCE.

HILLES OFFSETS HITCHCOCK

By EDWARD B. CLARK
Washington. — Doubtless President Coolidge's indirect plea for the Republican nomination for the presidency has been found in his message to congress. Of course this does not mean that the President had the slightest idea of connecting his message with the campaign for convention preference, but simply that necessarily his words to congress must contain his views of what ought to be done for the country.

Seemingly the political friends of the President have overcome his desire that any direct effort should be made to secure for him delegates to the Republican national convention. The last word has been that soon after the meeting of the Republican national committee, astute politicians friendly to the administration will begin a campaign in the Coolidge behalf.

This does not mean that the President personally will enter into the contest for delegates. In the words of old, he will be "in the hands of his friends," but in this case, if rumor is true, his friends will be men who know the ins and outs of politics, and therefore know how to do things.

Hilles Versus Hitchcock.
It has been reported in the press already that W. M. Butler of Massachusetts is expected to be the director of the President's nomination fortunes. Mr. Butler is not anywhere near so well known as are two other men, who, it is believed will be associated with him in the work ahead—Charles D. Hilles of New York and George Harvey, also of New York.

So far as the inner politics of the situation is concerned it seems likely that Mr. Hilles will be the man of the hour. Nothing is lost seemingly in off-setting Frank H. Hitchcock, Senator Hiram W. Johnson's manager. Hitchcock and Hilles have different methods of management. The former, judging from the past, believes in the use of the smoke screen, but it should be said instantly that the belief of the writer is that the screen never hid anything politically or personally improper. Secrecy of operation, however, is one of Mr. Hitchcock's ways of doing things.

On the other hand, Charles D. Hilles throws his doors and windows open and lets the public look in. It was he who managed Mr. Taft's hopeless campaign in 1912. No politician, however, ever has so much as intimated that Mr. Hilles should be blamed in any way for the Taft failure in 1912. Some one has said, with humorous intent, probably, that the fact that Utah and Vermont were saved for Mr. Taft proved that Charles D. Hilles knew a thing or two. There is general recognition of the truth of the statement that Hilles' work, re-enforced by that of all the Republican leadership in the country, could not have saved the day for William Howard Taft in 1912.

The Republican politicians here who are friendly to the administration seem sincere in their belief that the President has made an impression on the people, an impression of sincerity of purpose and of intention to do what he can to secure constructive legislation. The politicians are not entirely given over to the thought that manipulation in the states in behalf of this candidate or that candidate can prevent the people from making their voices heard. Seemingly the President's friends believe the pressure from below this year may give the Republican convention to Calvin Coolidge.

Pinchot's Entry Expected.
Gifford Pinchot has not yet entered the fight for the nomination for the presidency. He always has been a close friend of Hiram W. Johnson, politically and otherwise. The Pennsylvania governor, however, probably already has found in the Johnson Chicago speech certain things which he thinks will make it reasonable for him to enter the campaign as a contestant against the Californian.

The war made Gifford Pinchot much more of a conservative than he ever was before, but on certain matters he is still an advanced progressive, and it is inconceivable that he, in any speech intended to outline his policies, will give voice to anything intended to gain votes from elements in the community whose views are not the Pinchot views. It can be taken for granted that the Pennsylvania's spoken or written platform, if he shall enter the contest, will be a straight out declaration of principles.

If the President's friends are to become busy in his behalf, it is understood that they will open headquarters in New York, San Francisco, Chicago, Denver and Boston, and in some city of the South yet unnamed. If Washington can be considered as a southern city, this place probably will be chosen. It is known that politicians generally look on Washington as a place absolutely necessary to cover adequately in any nomination campaign. C. Bascom Sloop, the President's secretary, is in Washington, and possibly this may be considered as sufficient representation for the administration in the nomination contest.

In the United States are more than 1,100 women who have been ordained to the ministry.

The door was slammed shut but Mr. Lewis put his foot against it and series of explanations, but on the it failed to close. Then followed a part of the sheriff they were brief.

A hired man on the Newhouse farm was told that should he make an effort to disobey the order of the court and keep the surveyors off the farm, he would have to answer to the court.

The company secured a restraining order against Jennie B. Newhouse, Elmer E. Royer, Charles M. Guy and John Doe.

(Edited by G. Douglas Wardrop, Editor of Radio Merchandising.)

Many amateurs, after having built a workable loud-talker, spoil the whole thing by using it in connection with a poorly designed horn and diaphragm, because they have no facilities for obtaining or making them properly. If they would only stop for a moment and think of the time and money spent by phonograph companies in designing their horns and reproducers, there might be more of them who would make use of these parts for this work. The loud-talker described utilizes the sound box and the horn of a "hill and dale" type phonograph.

The field coils with cores of this loud-talker are two electro-magnets removed from an old telegraph sounder and mounted upon a base as shown.

The upper end of each core is drilled and tapped to a depth of about one-half of an inch and a short strip of soft iron is bolted to each. Each strip should be about 3-16 of an inch thick, and as wide as the pole pieces of the magnets. They should be of such length that their ends will be 3-16 of an inch apart, as shown in the accompanying diagram.

On each side of the electro-magnets, drill a hole in the base through which long machine screws are inserted. A nut should be run down on each one to clamp it to the base. Next obtain a strip of thin, first-quality mica, about three-fourths of an inch wide, and slightly longer than the distance between the two machine screws. Drill holes in each end of this strip, so that it may be placed upon the two screws. In the center of the strip, directly over the center of the space between the two pole pieces, drill another hole. A circular diaphragm placed in the same way could also be used.

We will now proceed to the winding of the movable core. Make a form or template of two wooden blocks as shown in Fig. 2, with a core one-fourth of an inch apart. They should also be arranged so as to be readily removable, after the coil is wound. On this template just constructed, wind about 500 feet of No. 44 enameled wire.

After the required number of feet are wound on the coil, one side of the form should be carefully removed, and thin shellac applied to the exposed side of the coil. After this dries, remove the core and the other side of the form, and carefully shellac the other side of the coil. After the shellac dries, wind very carefully several turns of fine sewing silk around the coil, taking care to preserve its shape and thickness.

Now obtain a split copper rivet and insert it in the center hole in the mica strip. Fasten this firmly in place with shellac. Place the moving coil between the two legs of the rivet, and squeeze them lightly together, taking care not to damage the coil in so doing.

Now assemble the component parts as shown in Fig. 1, and over the entire apparatus place a box, in the top of which is a large hole to admit the needle on the phonograph reproducer. The instrument is connected without the use of a step-down transformer and is placed upon the top of the phonograph, as shown in Fig. 1. The result will be, if properly constructed, a loud-talker whose operation will be equal to the best on the market.

Detector Cups From Cartridge Fuse Ends

The amateur who undertakes to make his own mineral detectors is soon confronted by the problem of obtaining detector cups. The brass ends of cartridge fuses are useful. The small of thirty ampere size does very well for crystals mounted in soft metal.

Cut about three-sixteenths inch from the opening end. This leaves a cup about one-quarter inch deep. Solder to the bottom of this, as shown in sketch, a flat-headed brass screw long enough to make connection under the base of the detector. Countersinking slightly the hole in the base will permit the cup to come down properly.

To mount the cup horizontally on a base or upon a panel cut a strip of brass about one-sixteenth inch thick, three-quarters inch long and three-eighths inch wide. Round off each end to improve the appearance. Drill a one-eighth inch hole at one end. Bend the strip in the center of the right angle and solder to the back of the cup in the place of the screw as in the previous case. This cup can be mounted on the base of a panel by a screw through the brass strip.

To make a cup with screws to mount the mineral it is best to use a larger fuse end. The next size does very well. This cup may be cut down to give the required depth, about three-eighths inch. Around the wall of the cup drill three one-eighth inch holes, each at right angles to the axis of the cup and at 120 degrees to each other. These may be tapped and screws inserted to hold the crystal, or brass nuts may be soldered over each hole for the screws. Such a cup may be arranged for mounting as previously described.

If the experimenter is properly equipped and so desires he can nickel plate these cups, thus greatly improving the appearance.

A few old fuses for this purpose can usually be obtained from any user of electric power.

To Locate and Drill Switch Point Holes

The following method of locating and drilling holes in a panel for switch contact points true in radius and of equal distances apart is a real labor saver for the experimenter who "builds his own."

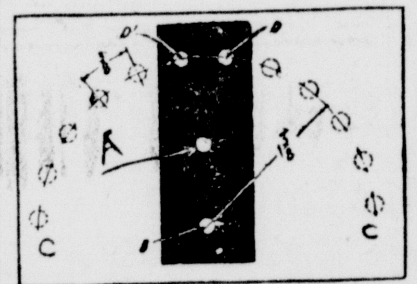

Take a piece of sheet brass about 1/32 inch in thickness, and of a length according to the radius to be used, and 3/4 inch wide.

Scratch a line through the center. A prick mark point B, set one point of dividers at B and scribe arc C, of the radius to be used.

Prick mark the point, D and D-1, which are centers of contact points, and drill holes through the plate at these points, B, D and D-1, using same size drill as for contact points.

To use, drill hole through panel where switch is to be located, put switch or a contact point through hole B and in hole just drilled in panel. If an even number of holes are to be drilled set plate as in cut, placing drill in hole D-1; drill panel, move plate to left, putting in a slightly tapering plug through the hole D and in hole in panel just drilled, and drill again at D-1. Repeat this method until all holes are drilled—perfect in radius and spaced equal distances apart, and an easier way to do the job.

If an odd number of contact points are to be used, drill first hole on center line.

Jacks as Brackets for V. T. Socket Mounting

Jacks when used in an ordinary amplifier can also be used as brackets upon which the shelf holding the V. T. is mounted. The frames are inverted and drilled, as shown in the sketch; corresponding holes are drilled in the shelf. The jack can either be tapped or a bolt passed through. This adds to the compactness of the set and simplifies the wiring. The sketch is self-explanatory, but only shows one jack. This process is repeated on the other two, forming a firm mounting for the shelf.

Using the Jacks as Brackets to Support a Panel.

Pretty Speedy.

Ostracised For Befriending Youth

Jeanette Lawrence, Francis Kluxen, & Monell Sayre

In 1922 Francis Kluxen, 2d, then only 15, son of good parents in Madison, N. J., was tried and acquitted by a jury on the charge of brutally murdering Jeanette Lawrence, 11, whose mutilated body was found near the town. Townpeople made life terrible for the youth after his acquittal. Shortly after he was freed Monell Sayre of Convent Station, N. J., wealthy New York banker and secretary of the pension fund of the Protestant Episcopal church, adopted the boy. This has just been revealed because a faction in the Grace Protestant Episcopal church, of Madison, of which Sayre is a vestryman has ostracised him for taking the lad into the church, and has ordered him never to do so again. The boy's innocence having been proved, Mr. Sayre, whose family has been prominent in New Jersey since 1650, refuses to turn against him.

ATTEMPTS TO KILL RULER OF JAPAN

Japanese Cabinet Resigns As Assassin's Bullet
Misses Mark.

Tokio, Dec. 27.—The Japanese cabinet, following a prolonged session resigned late today as the result of an attempt to assassinate Hirohito prince regent of Japan, as he was proceeding to the diet chambers to convoke the 48th diet session.

The prince regent was uninjured by the assassin's bullet which shattered the glass of the limousine big Grand Chamberlain Iriye, who was riding with him, was slightly injured.

The attempt on the prince regent's life occurred at Torahamon tram stop at 10:35 this morning. Rushing forward from a large crowd which had been pressed back by police on guard at that point, Naniwa pulled a revolver from beneath the loose soiled coat he was wearing and fired point blank at the prince regent, whose automobile was directly ahead of the would-be slayer.

The crash of the shattered glass brought realization to the crowd that their ruler's life had been endangered and Naniwa was threatened with death when the police managed to rush him to the safety of a police station.

Airplanes, Warcraft, Autos, Camels Used To Hunt Dirigible

Paris, Dec. 27.—Airplanes combed the skies, fleet warcraft explored the Mediterranean and swarms of motor cars, motorcycles, camel troops and cavalry today explored the north African desert for traces of the missing dirigible balloon Dismade, with 50 persons aboard, whose dramatic disappearance has engaged the attention of the whole world. The great balloon has been missing nine days since she started upon her flight across the sea from Toulon for Algeria.

While the ministry of marine has not yet abandoned hope that some or all of the 50 passengers and air sailors may be found alive, the fate of the balloon may go down among the unsolved mysteries of sea and air.

French military stations in northern Africa have been instructed by wireless to redouble their search. British and French cruisers and destroyers are aiding the French to search for wreckage of the balloon in the Mediterranean.

WAVES ARE MADE TO ORDER

Ingenuous Machine Devised That Produces Billows and Whitecaps on Placid Lake.

It appears that "all kinds of waves" are now made to order and that one can order any one of a half dozen varieties of waves, produced by an odd-looking bit of machinery devised for the purpose.

Some of the six or seven varieties of waves are: The gentle, rolling billows; the short, choppy kind; the whitecap variety, and big ones resembling the ocean waves. Each of these, it is reported, can be manufactured at will merely by manipulating the four plungers of the machine in different ways. For instance, if you want the long, rolling billows all you have to do is to cause the four plungers to work in unison. They plunge into the water all at once and cause the big swells. If the short, choppy wave is wanted the plungers are worked independently of each other. Two up and two down gives the whitecap sort.

This curious machinery, which makes perfect waves, was invented to convert placid lakes at summer resorts into lakes with real live waves and make bathers think they were enjoying a real Atlantic or Pacific surf—at least while the machinery was working, for as soon as the electric motor is stopped the water resumes its placidity. It appears that these waves can be made all day long for thousands of bathers and at comparatively little expense. It is said that a dollar a day is the cost of operating the electric motor that drives the machine.—Washington Star.

QUEEN PHOTOGRAPHED IN BED

Marie of Jugo-Slavia Has Pictures Taken With Her Infant Son.

British women are deeply interested in the publication in all illustrated newspapers of pictures of the young queen of Jugo-Slavia lying in bed with her infant son, the heir to the throne.

This is the first time that a monarch's consort has been photographed in bed, and it is also the first time that a queen has been photographed with her hair flowing loose over the shoulders, and also the first time a king has been shown sitting at the royal bedside holding a baby in his arms.

Queen Marie, a beautiful young brunette, is seen wearing a nightgown adorned with a costly lace necklet. She is also pictured with a magnificent pearl necklace as she lies in a plain brass bedstead with the infant crown prince pillowed in her left arm.

Another photograph represents the heir's grandmother, the queen of Rumania, fondling and kissing the Balkan prince.

What appeals particularly to society leaders here is that while stage beauties invariably are tastefully made-up when subjected to the camera, in bed or out, the queen of Jugo-Slavia consented to admit the photographer before her maid had even brushed her hair.—Robert J. Frew, in a London dispatch to the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Deciphering Charred Documents.

In most detective stories incriminating papers are destroyed by being burned and the baffled detective or other interested person is therefore unable to learn their contents. But a method has now been discovered of reading the writing that was on a document. The charred paper is placed in contact with a fast or medium plate for a week or two in the dark and the date then developed as usual. There appears to be an emanation that affects the plate except where the charred ink acts as a protective coating. It is curious that films need a much longer contact than plates, and that sometimes the effect is reversed unless the film is previously washed and dried.

Lady Book Agents.

Tradition tells us that the sibyl brought to Tarquin nine books of prophecy. These she offered him at a price which he refused to pay. She then burned three books and offered the remaining three for the same price. Again he refused and again she burned three books, offering the remaining three for the original price. Then he accepted.

"It's that way with lady book agents," declared Uncle Pennywise upon hearing this story. "Some have one scheme and some have another, but they always sell the books."

For Just One Hotel.

In furnishing a hotel recently erected, 37 miles of carpet were laid on the floors of the guest rooms and corridors, while 25,000 pounds of horse-hair were used to stuff the bed mattresses. To obtain 7,000 pounds of feathers and down for the pillows, 30,000 geese were killed. If this number of living fowls were formed into columns four abreast, the line would be two miles long. Marching in "goose step" at a normal speed, the host would be three hours and forty-one minutes passing a given point.

Where the Surprise Comes In.
The stranger, after studying the fountain bill of fair intently, approached the proprietor and said: "I see that you advertise conspicuously what you call a Cantaloupe Surprise." "Yes," admitted the druggist, "I do." "What is the surprise?" "The surprise comes when you cut the cantaloupe. I myself never knew what it is going to be."
